Course title: How to improve your organic garden with biodynamics

Content: This 2 day course is for food gardeners already using organic methods. It covers a mixture of theory and practice, building a framework of understanding for you to work with biodynamics to improve your soil, garden productivity and food quality, and at the same time, raise your awareness into the deeper spirit of nature.

You will learn biodynamic gardening principles, how to use biodynamic preparations, work in tune with the planets, make biodynamic compost and tree paste. We will also delve into biodynamic weed and pest control, liquid manures and general organic gardening methods.

Presenter: Peter Kearney is an experienced course presenter and organic gardener. Peter has worked with and studied biodynamic gardening methods for over 8 years, is founder of www.cityfoodgrowers.com.au and has conducted these courses and workshops regularly since late 2008. Peter is a member of Biodynamic Agriculture Australia. In the workshop, Peter talks from his own practice on his property in Samford and this helps to move the concepts of biodynamics into very practical application for gardeners of any standard.

When and where: The 2010 September course is held on Saturday the 4th and 11th of September and the November course on the 6th and 13th of November. The course runs each day from 9.15am-4.30pm and is located at 203 Wights Mt Road, Wights Mountain via Samford, Brisbane. You will enjoy the beautiful gardens.

Inclusions: Afternoon tea is provided, comprehensive written training materials, biodynamic preparations to get you started, ongoing support online and connection to a network of local gardeners working with BD practices. Low cost local home stay accommodation can be organised. Bring along your lunch and gardening clothing.

Charge: The charge is $240 per person with a discount of $20 per person for couples. Gardener subscribers of www.cityfoodgrowers.com.au also receive a $20 discount.

To register: For more information, call Peter Kearney on 0401156532 or visit our event calendar at www.cityfoodgrowers.com.au for registration instructions. Payment in advance of the workshop to confirm your booking is preferred. You can also pay on the workshop day by cash or cheque, but if the workshop is fully booked by participants who have paid in advance, you may miss out on your place.
